

LOCONOMY PRESENTS

Job Fair

29 May 2025

10am-4pm
St Paul's Centre
405b Belcher's Lane

Loconomy are a community benefit society based at the St Paul's Centre in East Birmingham. We aim to connect people who are looking for good employment and career opportunities with employers looking to recruit.

We are putting on a job fair on the 29th May and aim to have many local residents in attendance which gives you a great opportunity to advertise your job opportunities.

To book a free table and space to promote your job opportunities please contact the email address below indicating your company name and contact details.

We are offering one table with space for two staff members and display space per employer. We're happy to follow up with a call to discuss your requirements.

Refreshments and family activities will be available throughout the day.

For more information and to register, please contact localemployment@loconomy.org.uk